“ I am sorry for the loss of Stephanie. I always enjoyed catching up whenever I would see her at family gatherings and holidays. She always made me laugh, and I was so sorry when it became harder for her after her stroke. Even then, she still kept her sense of humor.

My heart breaks for all of those who love her, and I pray for peace and comfort as move forward into the grief of missing her.

Though time does not heal all things, it does have a way of allowing the beautiful memories to bring smiles instead of tears, joy instead of pain, and always, always, the love that you and she shared to shine through.

God Bless and comfort you.
