“ To those who don't know me I'm Memory I'm Verne's daughter. Losing my father has been the hardest thing I've ever had to deal with and even two months later it has not gotten any easier I miss my dad everyday there's not a day that goes by that I don't think about him at least one time throughout the day. The thing I miss the most about my dad is the fact that he knew exactly what to say to make you feel better. I have issues with depression and there was many times when I wanted to give up on life whenever me and my boyfriend would fight and especially after my boyfriend passed away. and my mom would call my dad and tell my dad that I was not doing well and I was wanting to do stupid things and she would ask him to talk to me because she was afraid of what I might do to myself. My dad would call me and haven't talked to me and he always would say things to make me feel better he was always there to listen and he would give me his honest opinion and if he thought I was wrong he would tell me I was wrong. my dad always made jokes and he would make me laugh and no matter what it was that had me down and depressed I would see in a different way and it wouldn't seem so bad and then all the thoughts that I was having about hurting myself would start to fade away. I'm not even sure if my dad realizes how many times that by me just talking to him he was able to save my life. I just wish I would have been able to save his. I think my dad died way before he should have he was still very young definitely too young to pass away I miss him so much and I still cry when I think about him but I also laugh when I think about all the crazy goofy things he used to do. My dad was the funniest guy I know and he was the greatest guy anyone could ever know. One thing's for sure they always say girls always go after guys that remind them of their father well in a big way that's probably true because I only date guys that can make me laugh. And I have always been that way. I will always remember the goofy things that my dad used to do just to get somebody to laugh and the silly things he would say just to get somebody to laugh or feel better. I really wish I would have gotten to spend a lot more time with him before he passed but at least now I know he's not sick anymore he's not in pain and i know my dad will be watching over me. And I also know that one day I will get to see him again and I will get to spend a lot of time with him in heaven. I don't think I can even explain how much I love and I miss my father I'm not sure my heart will ever heal at least not until I see my dad again. Everyone said that I was Daddy's Girl and I probably was and I always will be.
